

Many groups and societies built beautiful tombs to honor their members who passed away.